

FFA Week 6 Email Address

Hello All,

HAPPY HALLOWEEN! Hope everyone is enjoying the holiday. First off, thank you to Shari Rozenberg and all of our other parent volunteers from yesterday who helped to make our Starving Artist Luncheon a success! We couldn't have done it without you! Our students had plenty to eat, and we have a ton of leftover food available for snacks after school this week. I apologize for sending out the schedule so late tonight. If you're wondering why it took so long, check out the picture attachment to learn the answer!

Before I forget, I want to remind all of our parents that ONLINE TICKET ORDERS END TONIGHT AT MIDNIGHT!!! Why is that important to know? It means that from this point out your child will have to purchase tickets during lunch sales this week, or you will need to buy them at the door. In either case, you will not have the same opportunity to choose your seating locations for the performance. Don't miss the chance to choose and reserve the very best possible seats!

This week will invariably prove to be quite long and tiring. Luckily, I have made arrangements with your teachers so that you will not be assigned any homework, quizzes, or tests in the next five days. Additionally, they have agreed to boost your current grades in their courses by 75%! What's more, they're planning on bringing paying you $50 cash for each assignment that you do manage to turn in this week. By this point I imagine you realize I'm COMPLETELY MAKING UP ALL OF THIS INFORMATION! In all seriousness, please use your downtime wisely during rehearsals. It may not be fun or easy, but it is certainly possible to keep up with studies when you are not needed onstage. The show IS NOT to be used as an excuse you give to your teachers for failing to submit work. Stay on top of things as best you can. It's tough, I know. I certainly appreciate your difficulties, but it's part of the game that comes with participation in shows.

We're in good shape, and I am VERY excited for opening night. Please remain focused and ready for the work that this week will require in order for us to be ready! Also, please keep in mind that strike will take place on Mon, Nov. 8th. It runs from after school until 5pm, and participation is MANDATORY for all cast members. Thank you, everyone! LET'S HAVE A GREAT WEEK!

Quote for the Week:

"I passed your floor on the way up, and now I'm passing it on the way down, and I don't think I'll be taking this elevator again."
